

Table of Contents

Two Polymorphs of CaCO ₃ : Their Similarities and Differences	4	Dal'negorsk, Russia: Clearly Great Calcite .60 Terry Huizing	60
Calcite and Its Relatives	6	Cumbria and the Legendary Calcite Twins .64 Michael P. Cooper	64
Rupert Hochleitner and Terry Huizing		Saint Andreasberg in the Harz Mountains: more Than 1,500 Distinct Habits	72
Crystal Shapes: A Primer	16	Gunter Grundmann
R. Peter Richards		Calcite from Romania: Breathtaking in Black and White	74
Calcite Pseudomorphs: Pseudomorphs after Calcite	20	Marc L. Wilson
Rupert Hochleitner		A Bountiful Harvest of Calcite from the American Heartland	76
Cleavage and the Birth of Modern Mineralogy	26	Terry Huizing
Lydie Touret		Michigan Calcite and Copper	83
Cleavage	33	Stanley Dyl and Terry Huizing
R. Peter Richards		Calcite Crystals in Amethyst Vugs: Irai, Rio Grande do Sui, Brazil	84
Luminous Calcite and Aragonite: Fluorescence and Phosphorescence	34	Reinhard Balzer
Werner Lieber		Calcite: A Photo Gallery	90
A Lucky Break for Polarization: The Optical Properties of Calcite	40	Limestone Caves: Wonderlands of Calcite and Aragonite	94
Mickey Gunter		Sarah Bronko
Rainbow Calcite: A Colorful Effect of Reflection, Refraction and Twinning46 Michael Gray	46	Cleaning Calcite and Aragonite	104
China: A Promising New Entry in the Mineral Specimen Market	48	Rudolf Duthaler
Guanghua Liu		A Skeleton Made of Calcite Crystals: Sea Urchins and other Echinoderms	106
Map of Asia and the Chinese Provinces of Hunan and Guangxi	55	Rupert Hochleitner and R. Peter Richards
Calcite from the Deccan Traps of India	57	References	110/112
Bertold Ottens		Author's Addresses	114